

Welcome

TO THE HAND AT LLANARMON

A long and winding road up the beautiful Ceiriog Valley leads to a crossroads and the tiny village of Llanarmon, one of North Wales' best kept secrets, tucked away in the undiscovered Berwyn Mountains.

Near to Llangollen as the crow flies, this soothing retreat is superbly placed for exploring breathtakingly glorious countryside. It's a mix of rolling borderlands, grassy highlands and hidden valleys, one of which leads to Wales' highest waterfall.

The Hand is an ancient hostelry with all the attributes you'd expect; bags of character, a cosy, relaxing ambience and a warm welcome from your hosts, Jonathan and Jackie Greatorex. As soon as you arrive you will feel the weight of the world melt away, as the surroundings work their magic.

All the classic ingredients are here – old beams, roaring fireplaces, a casual mix-and-match of pine and oak furniture, real ale and good food.

Dining AT THE HAND

Thanks to the talents of Head Chef Grant Mulholland and his team, The Hand is renowned for award-winning food; an inventive marriage of country fare and sophisticated metropolitan cuisine.

Dining can take place informally in the cosy bar area, or you can eat in our attractive restaurant.

EAT, DRINK, Sleep...

The bedrooms, in a variety of sizes, reflect similar influences, with rustic décor and sparkling modern bathrooms. Many of our rooms have now been fully refurbished to exceptional standards, but all boast very comfortable beds, as well as all the modern conveniences one would expect to find in a luxury hotel.

LOTS TO DO... OR JUST Relax

Country lovers will adore the location. You can walk in the Berwyns for hours with only the sheep for company, and the ever-helpful Hand can arrange many country pursuits, including horse riding, fishing and shooting. You may be away from it all, but you'll also be in the swing of things; this gem of a country inn is so much a part of village life that locals and visitors mix in unaffected harmony.
